MAKING A MISTAKE.

The Southern R. R., refusing to accept the promulgation of the two-cent rate law by the Corporation Commission, has secured from United States Judge Pritchard an injunction order restraining the commission from putting the new rate into effect, the order being returnable on June 29 or one day before the law is to take effect. It is most unfortunate that this railroad company should place itself in a position of antagonism to a demand by the people for a two-cent rate. It was hoped that the railroads of Virginia, in view of the general agitation all over the country, would accept without protest the verdict of the commission, which meets the approval of the people, and is, as many believe, fair to the roads themselves. The 2c. rate will bring about increased travel and will, we believe, increase rather than diminish the revenues. Other States have decided through their legislatures or otherwise for the two-cent law. We feel sure that the Southern R. R. Company will accomplish nothing beneficial by its action, while it may bring about considerable enmity to itself.

JAMESTOWN.

Monday was the anniversary of the first English settlement in America. On May 13, 1607, at Jamestown, the settlement of America commenced and the event was celebrated with appropriate and imposing ceremonies on Jamestown Island and at the exposition. From this small beginning under adverse conditions a colossal population has grown with such rapidity that today it is the wonder and admiration of the world. Not only this, but a new governmental organization has resulted that has made its impress upon all the old governments, and for the celebration of this the Jamestown Exposition was devised. Unlike other expositions this one celebrates an event that has resulted in what all the other expositions have celebrated, for without Jamestown—what?

COLLAPSED.

The great and much advertised Foraker fight from all accounts and all appearances has surrendered, gone to pieces. The big stick and government patronage did the work. Roosevelt is in charge of the pie counter, with full power to dish out slices to whomsoever he will, and that is a great power. There are two many men in Ohio who are still hungry and unprovided for. They know where their interest is, and they are looking with longing eyes at the White House, and the White House says Taft, and Taft it will be in Ohio. Whether the Taft-Roosevelt combination will succeed in knocking out Foraker from the senatorial race is uncertain, for Ohio is proud of its able and aggressive senator and they may keep him there, but Taft will be the choice of Ohio for president. For Roosevelt has spoken the word, and his word goes.

The marriage of Corey, the steel corporation president, and Miss Mabel Gilman, the actress, is a travesty upon decency. Corey was a poor young man, and married a poor girl, his equal in every thing and superior in many. During their days of trial and poverty his young wife, always loyal and true, worked hard to help him. He became rich, rich by accident, a multi-millionaire. He then became tired of the wife of his youth, she who had stood by him in sunshine and storm. She was too plain for him, could not shine as he desired with the other wives of the new rich. He then, for no reason under heaven, threw her off, discarded her for the actress, forced her to get a divorce. The whole thing is nauseating, disgusting, and mark the prediction, there may be show, glare and glitter in this new marriage, but there can not be, and will not be, real genuine happiness. The world, the gay and giddy world, may flatter and fawn, but the God of all righteousness and all justice will at some time and in some way lay His heavy hand upon this man. In this world he will suffer for his perfidy, his treachery, his disloyalty to a pure, loving and loyal wife, who has demonstrated he is unworthy of it and of her.

T. F. RYAN TO RETIRE

Will Give up Business, But he Seeks no Political Office.

"The report to the effect that Thomas F. Ryan had ulterior motives in participating to a limited extent in Virginia politics has done that gentleman a grave injustice. He is one of the closest personal friends of the Nelson County and New York millionaire, who was in Richmond Monday.

"I happen to know that there is no political office he would accept. He told me this less than two weeks ago. What is more, Ryan is preparing to retire from active business and to make his future home on his home estate in Nelson county. He will follow the farming, cattle raising, horse raising, and other pastimes as will appeal to him. He will quit business. He has already accumulated enough, and now desires to give up business care."

FOUR DIE BY BULLETS

Two Murderers Are Slain After Killing Victims

SWIFT PENALTY FOR THE MURDER

John P. Swanson of Danville, brother-in-law of Gov. Swanson and brother-in-law of Theodore Estes, whom former Judge Loving killed at Oak Ridge on April 22, was in Charlottesville on business connected with his law practice. He had gone to Red Hill to consult the young lawyer who received the letter from Miss Loving, which has figured in publication growing out of the homicide.

The Estes family intend to make a vigorous fight for the prosecution of Loving. Daniel Harmon of Charlottesville has been to Lexington in conference with the family and has agreed to assist the Commonwealth's attorney.

Thomas McInnis, of Oak Ridge, son of Judge Loving's widow, denies the statement that Judge Loving is a wreck, or that his nerves have been shattered, or that he has aged markedly since the tragedy.

In Nelson County, the belief is strong that the trial will take place in the courthouse at Lexington. It is pointed out that Judge Loving is "out on nominal bail; that there has been no threat of violence; thus he goes about his business as usual, and the condition of things, it is said, is a basis for change of venue."

Judge Loving recently had a conference at their client's home, at the Ryans' place Saturday, all three of the attorneys being present.

Intimations are made by friends of Judge Loving that startling testimony will be introduced at the trial to attack the character of Estes.

VIRGINIA NEWS

L. D. Basye, of Gloucester county, and Miss Maria D. Bridges, of Minneapolis, Minn., were married in Washington May 10. They left for the West, but will return to Gloucester.

Ambassador Bryce and wife and Miss Gray, who have been the guests of Governor and Mrs. Swanson, were taken on a sightseeing tour Tuesday, and at noon left for Washington. Ambassador Bryce expressed himself delighted with "Virginia hospitality" and the manners of the people.

BOOM JUDGE GRAY FOR PRESIDENCY

Democrats are taking interest in what is believed to be an organized movement in the South and East to launch a boom for Judge George Gray, of Delaware, for the Democratic nomination in 1912. It is stated that Senators Calhoun of Texas; Clay, of Georgia, and Daniel of Virginia, have been in correspondence with influential Eastern Democrats, looking to the vitalizing of the Gray presidential boom.

The winning card for Judge Gray is likely to be his fine line of anti-trust decisions and his agreeable attitude toward the labor element of the country.

WARSHIPS LEAVE HAMPTON ROADS

They Will Return by June 10.

Following the naval display at Hampton Roads Monday, the Atlantic fleet has broken up and will not be reassembled entire again till June 9, when the ships will take up their positions off Old Point Comfort to welcome the arrival of the British fleet. The Monitor will be in the harbor June 10, when he will be the orator of the day at the celebration of Georgia Day at the Jamestown Exposition, and before the National Editorial Association.

LOVING CUP FOR REV. DR.

J. WILLIAM JONES

Gen. Stone, of the Department of Missouri, United Confederate Veterans, has arranged for the presentation of a silver loving cup to Rev. Dr. J. William Jones, of Richmond, known as the "fighting parson."

Gen. Stone and friends have arranged the token and are seeking to have the presentation take place at the Horse Show Building on the first day of the reunion.

Dr. Jones is one of the Confederate clergymen who never misses a reunion and he always wears the Confederate gray. He marches with them, talks with them, sings with them, and they are all "brother" to him.
